THE WHOLE STORY

THE HUNTELY AREA PUBLIC LIBRARY NEWSLETTER

MAY/JUNE 2025

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Summer is here, and that means it's time to Level Up Your Library! This year's Summer Reading Challenge is all about unlocking new adventures, conquering reading goals, and discovering the power of stories, whether you're diving into the fantasy realm like Dungeons & Dragons, going on an adventure like Super Mario Bros., or creating whole new worlds like Minecraft. No matter your age, we invite you to take on the challenge, earn prizes, and experience the magic of reading like never before.

Summer Reading begins on June 1, 2025. To celebrate, we will be hosting a Cardboard Carnival for all ages to enjoy on Monday, June 2 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m! Enjoy a selection of cardboard games, constructed by library staff and volunteers, and sign up for Summer Reading! We will also have Kona Ice and the Lake in the Hills Rec2U van here as well.

The start of Summer Reading also marks the beginning of a wonderful Summer here at the Huntley Area Public Library. Keep your eyes peeled for information on exciting summer events, including the Village of Huntley & the HAPL's Movie in the Park on July 18, 2025. This year we will be watching Inside Out 2! This event is also in conjunction with the Friends Foundation Minilinks@thelibrary fundraiser. But... more on that later!

We want to thank you all for a fantastic winter & spring, from Library Lovers, to National Library Week, to all of the programs we held here at the library. Now, it's time to Level Up and embrace the warmth of summer! We can't wait!

- Aris Sherwood, Head of Marketing

LEVEL UP YOUR SUMMER

DIVE INTO THE LIBRARY'S 2025 SUMMER READING CHALLENGE

For many people, summer reading programs, hosted by their local public library, were a childhood staple.

In fact, summer reading programs have been in existence since the late 1800s. According to a 2013 article posted on Public Libraries Online, a publication of the Public Library Association, summer reading programs were created to combat a phenomenon called "summer loss" - when a child's reading skills decline during summer vacation, presumably the result of inadequate reading practice.

Since its inception, summer reading programs have not only enhanced reading comprehension skills amongst school-age children, but also has fostered a love of literature for not just children, but adults and teens as well- blending the joy of summer with the excitement of reading.

And the Huntley Area Public Library is no exception to this celebration.

By mid-20th century, summer reading programs began developing themed reading challenges, making participation more engaging and immersive. It also became common to include prizes to encourage participation and completion.

Since the Huntley Area Public Library first opened its doors in 1989, they have hosted summer reading programs every year, with themes such as "Ready, Set...Read," "Here We Grow," "Dig Into Summer" "Read, Renew, Repeat," and more.

This year, they are getting ready for the 2025 summer reading challenge "Level Up at Your Library."

This year's theme, according to the Illinois Library Association's iRead program, "reminds us that libraries are not just a space for knowledge, they are a space for fun!"

Programmers at the Huntley Area Public Library are very excited about this year's theme, having already begun planning their decorations, events, and the actual challenge itself.

"I love the first day every time," said Susan Riddle-Mojica, a Librarian at the Huntley Area Public Library who co-organizes the adult's portion of the reading program. "It's great to see many people excited about the new program."

Karin Thogersen, the Teen Librarian at the Huntley Area Public Library who organizes the teen portion of the reading program, shared how summer reading challenges have adapted over time.

"While many folks still prefer the traditional paper book logs, we have over the years added options for people to participate online (through Beanstack)," said Thogersen. "We've also incorporated other fun optional activities (in addition to reading) that people can do to "complete" the summer reading challenge."

Thogersen also said participants read in different ways, too, such as enjoying e-books or audiobooks, which both count toward fulfilling summer reading goals.

"One of our teen participants last summer said he liked to speed up the audiobooks he listened to and could read more books that way," she added.

These modifications and reinventions of summer reading programs are necessary, as libraries nationwide have seen wavering participation in their reading programs.

According to a 2022 report published by the National Endowment for the Arts, there has been a decrease in reading for pleasure among all age groups.

According to Michele Whisenhunt, Head of Youth Services at the Huntley Area Public Library, summer reading is important for many reasons.

"It gives kids a sense of accomplishment and community," said Whisenhunt. "The summer reading program is a community program- when kids participate, they are participating in the community, and learning how to earn rewards and practice ethical behavior."

Whisenhunt also said that kids enjoy a sense of freedom and fun when they choose what they want to read.

"Summer reading fosters a joy of reading," she said.

Thogersen agrees.

"Summer reading programs have a lot of goals, but we mostly want to encourage everyone of all ages to read," said Thogersen. "Read together, read alone, read for fun, be read to... kids will read more, too, if they see their parents or other adults admire reading. Getting the whole family signed up for summer reading is one way you can model how great reading is."

And reading isn't just one way you can show support for summer reading, according to Thogersen. You can also show your support by visiting the library, checking out library materials, attending library events, and volunteering.

"We would love to have you participate!" said Thogersen.
